Local Citizens Given Awards At Rucker

CAMPBELL

Fifty-seven Ft. Rucker, Civil Service employees were recently given cash awards, for sustained superior performance of their duties.

Those receiving the awards included Rexton C. Campbell, warehouseman, $100, Paul Jacobs, Center Engineers, $150, and Mace Cook, General Equipment Maintenance Officer, $200, each of Elba; Joseph R. Danford, Chief Machine Operator, of New Brookston, $150; Milford R. Simmons, Engineer Equipment Maintenance, of Kingston, $150.

Elba Scout And Leader Join Order

During the weekend of August 22 and 23, two of our citizens experienced one of the highest honors afforded to a member of the Boy Scouts of America. Johnny Foreman, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Foreman, of Elba, and Mr. Donnie Morrow, also of Elba, were inducted into the Order of the Arrow, Cowikee Lodge 224.

COOK

This Order was founded during the summer of 1915 at Treasure Island, the Philadelphia Council Scout camp, and exists primarily as a service organization and especially emphasizes cheerful service in the camping part of the Boy Scout program. Democratic in nature and character, boys are elected to membership by the members of their own Scout Troop or Explorer Post. Adults act only as advisors and counselors, but they do not run the affairs of the local lodge. Spiritual values in the Order of the Arrow seek to glorify the principles of a Scout's duty to God, his country and his fellow man.

Both Johnny, President of the Elba Explorer Post 37, and Donnie, Adult Advisor of Post 37, are extremely proud and thankful that they have been honored by this outstanding society.

Donnie has expressed a desire to expand scouting in Elba, both in his Explorer Post and in the Scout Troop. Any one interested in joining the explorers or scouts, either

Vandals Visit Country Club Monday Night

Vandals broke into the Elba Country Club Monday night and had themselves a real good time. Watermelon rinds were scattered over the patio, all the chairs were thrown into the pool, the cigarette machine inside the clubhouse was broken open, a number of golf clubs and a golf bag were taken from the pro shop. The break in was discovered Tuesday morning by club employees.

Enterprise Jr College Contracts With Military

Enterprise State Junior College has entered into contract with the federal government to provide off-post instruction for military personnel.

President B. A. Furman of the junior college and Director William Smith of the Fort Rucker Education Center announced signing of the contract this week.

Under the contract, the government will pay three-fourths of instructional costs and the student, one-fourth. All Army personnel are eligible.

Smith said applicants for the grant should see him at the base education center and then apply for admission to the college.

The junior college, which will be in new, fully air-conditioned buildings this fall, offers the first two years of college instruction, as well as one and two-year terminal courses, starting with the fall quarter. 29 courses will be available in evening classes meeting from 5:30 to 7 o'clock and from 7:10 to 9:30 Mondays through Thursdays. All will carry full college credit, which may be transferred to senior colleges and universities.

Degrees Given At Auburn Recently

Some 638 degrees were awarded during summer commencement exercises at Auburn University Wednesday, August 24, at 5:30 P.M. in Cliff Hare Stadium.

In all, 211 were awarded the graduate degrees with another 427 receiving the undergraduate degree. Among the graduate degrees are 18 Doctor of Philosophy, nine Doctor of Education, and two Specialist in Education candidates.

Speaker for the commencement was Mrs. Sarah Blanton Folsom, a native of Alabama and now State Superintendent of Public Instruction in Arizona.

Graduates from this area include: Elba: John Franklin Parker, Jr., B. S. in Agricultural Engineering; Enterprise: Thadus William Morgan, Master of Education.

There will be eight Jaycees on duty from 10 A. M. until 4:00 P.M.

Jaycee Vice President Jim Ream is chairman of this Courtesy Check committee.

English Buys
Whitman Motors

Foy W. English, owner of English Home and Auto announced this week the purchase of Basil Whitman Motors effective September 1st. English has changed the name of his company to English Auto and will continue to offer all the services of his present business and those of Whitman Motors. Basil Whitman will remain with English as Sales Manager.

AN HONEST MAN

The largest amount of cash ever found and returned to its owners was $240,000 in unmarked $10 and $20 bills. The money was discovered in a street in Los Angeles by Douglas William Johnston, an unemployed Negro, in March, 1961.

A FISH OUT OF WATER

The African mudfish, which can live for many months out of water, makes a burrow of hardened mud beneath a dried up stream bed.

NEW FAMILY IN ELBA is the TemBroeck family living in the new home they purchased in Brookdale. Sgt. Major Culver TemBroeck, center, leaves for Viet Nam next week. He is currently Sgt. Major of Air Field Operations at Ft. Rucker. Shown in this picture are: Mr. and Mrs. Culver TemBroeck Sr., of Datona Beach, Florida, who helped the family with the moving in; Alan, age 14; Sgt. and Mrs. TemBroeck (Edna), Sharon, age 18; Bruce, age 13. In front are Tommy, age 3, Carol, age 10 and Jane, age 7.

The children will all attend school in Elba with the exception of Sharon, who will enroll in Troy State and Tommy, who needs to grow a little more yet.

Sgt. Major TemBroeck is a veteran of 23 years in the service and this tour will give him overseas duty in three wars, WWII, Korea and Viet Nam. He served as an officer in WWII and in Korea and was discharged as a 1st Lieutenant and later rejoined as an enlisted man.

An interesting fact revealed about the TemBroecks is that Mr. TemBroeck Sr., also served in three wars: WWI, in France, WWII in Navy; and at the age of 54 rejoined and served on the aircraft carrier, Franklin D. Roosevelt throughout the Korean War.

The TemBroeck family came to America over 100 years prior to the American Revolution and settled in Kingston, New York, which is where both Sgt. TemBroeck and his wife were born.

Mrs. TemBroeck was a practicing Registered Nurse prior to her marriage.

Hobbies enjoyed by the family include baseball, bowling, volleyball, and they can display a number of trophies attesting to their ability in each of these sports.

Elba was picked by this Army family because of the lower cost, near the post and small town friendliness.

Elba Tigers Begin Football Tonight In Enterprise

Elba Theatre
Closes Doors

Mr. Hubert Yon, manager of the Elba Theatre and the Dixie-land Drive-In, has announced that the Elba Theatre is permanently closed, but that the drive-in will continue to operate 365 nights a year.

Yon expressed his regret on the closing but stated that no business could continue to operate at a loss. The lease on the building expired effective September 1st and will not be renewed.

ACTUALLY I CAN'T say any value of the anti-guidelines sponsored by Alabama's governor and legislature. I don't think it's worth the paper it's written on but it sure is costing Alabama taxpayers a bushel of money. I really don't think we will suffer because of it until after the November election but I'm expecting some real problems after that.

There will be a reason for it coming after the election. The Democrats in Washington want Democrats elected in Alabama regardless of who they are. Another reason it could come soon after the November election is that integration will be accepted and the heat cooled during the two years before the next presidential election and certainly before the next governor's election. It could be that electing Republicans in Alabama this fall would halt the strict force of the guidelines for a short time more than doing "the popular thing" for their own political hides. Schools that were not integrated last year are integrated this year and on a much larger scale than was expected. The Florida High School was integrated last year, the Elba High School had Negro students. This year the elementary schools are also integrated. A suit designed to prevent the State of Alabama from paying tuition for students attending racially segregated private schools has been filed in U. S. District Court in Montgomery naming Governor Wallace and State School Superintendent Meadows and the State Board of Education as defendants. Public money cannot legally be used for the segregated private schools which were established to prevent integration.

When the people of Alabama realize that a mistake has been made it will be too late to do anything about it, is my opinion. I have never seen a mistake corrected as the state has been these many years. In the beginning it looked as if it might be a very popular action for the governor to make a big issue of the anti-guideline bill but it looks now as if it may be backfiring on the Wallace election in November. At this time he has apparently lost ground for his wife as governor though she still seems to be ahead of the Republican opponent. I don't know what may happen between now and November but at this time there are some bitter feelings toward the governor by some of his supporters who have stayed with him in everything he has done, yet some of his opponents are riding along with him encouraging the anti-guideline bill. They could be leading him to the slaughter pen and again they may also think they are anything else, Alabama would be recognized by the national Democrats as the state has been these many years. Don't ask me how to correct all these problems, I can't and that is why I haven't said anything about the political football now being rubbed-stamped at the state capitol. I don't have a solution to offer. Some say "why accept without a fight?" But we stand just about as much of a chance winning in this as we did in the Civil War. The only thing accomplished then was the loss of thousands of lives, homes destroyed, suffering and unhappiness in all families of north and south, the white race and the black race. We fought for a cause, we said, but few remember what the "cause" was.

It may sound corny but I write to you with my strength where I stand a chance of at least breaking even. We of the older generation, both white and black, can't accept the changes of our traditional way of life without an emotional mind-set resentment. But suppose we use our influence on our children to be able to live together with all people and at the same time keep the race pure. That is where we need to use our strength and influence. That is the important thing.

LAST WEEK-END was one of those week-ends of traveling from place to place for me. Thursday Mack and I were in Debar for most of the day. Friday in Montgomery all day and Saturday in Elba and back to Florida about 8:30 that night. I did manage to get to stay in one place long enough to attend the Reburn-Ganey wedding in Florida Sunday afternoon. I enjoyed seeing many people I never have an opportunity to see and visit with. The wedding was beautiful and very impressive but I also enjoyed seeing so many people and to visit with them.

IN ENTERPRISE one day last week I talked to a young lady who is a native of California and married to a service man stationed at Fort Rucker and I asked her about her apartment that she was glad to get it. She mentioned that when they first came to Fort Rucker and Enterprise about an apartment that was renting for $60.00 now rents for $10. It really looks unfair to these kids to have to pay such high rent. However, I can see the problems the landlord may be having and perhaps why they charge so much for apartments. But I couldn't do it. I would probably look at those kids and think about my son when in service and how hard it was on him and let those young couples have the apartment for nothing.

NEITHER CAN the Republicans sit around and do nothing. And I can tell you they're not letting any grass grow under their feet. Republican candidates are going out to the people themselves and not "sending" someone else to do the work for them. And that always has weight in getting votes. This story illustrates the essential reason why the welfare state has been so successful. It is that the welfare state has no families in that category or anything approaching it, it nevertheless expected to get the money.

After we finished our first session of business in Montgomery Friday we went to the cafeteria at Normandale for lunch. We saw friends from Elba immediately. Just before we left the lunch counter Mr. Goodwin and John Cecil Evans. They had been to visit a stormy session of the legislature. We left them at the cafeteria but they beat us home by about 5 hours or more. We got back at 8:30 after a day jammed with activity. By the time we read the evening paper it was nearly time for us to get going again. I have decided there is no rest for me so long as I own two newspapers and dabble with a few other things on the side. I had to spare I would look at the evening paper and what did I want with a wig anyway. I knew there wouldn't be any time for looking at wigs but it was a good way to keep him entertained thinking that I might.

IT LOOKS AS IF politics are going to get moving in high gear now that the Republicans have started rolling. And rolling they are regardless of what the dyed-in-the-wool Democrats may think. Sticking their heads in the sand is not going to make those Republicans go away. A few months ago things looked pretty hopeless for the Republicans. That is not true today and the Democrats who think they can sit it out and still be elected may be in for a surprise. The people have been the ones who acted as if they had been hypnotized. It could be that the Democrats are expecting the voters to stay that way while they whittle around. Some of 'em may be hearing for Buck's Pocket come November.

FRIDAY ENROUTE to Montgomery we noticed how the cows were crowding the shade. Dozens of cows would be hugging one small shade standing side by side and I would think wouldn't be better than if standing out in the sun. But guess those cows knew what they were doing. The shade broke the direct heat and they had to be better than better even though crowded. It was very amusing and something I had never noticed before.

AN ARTICLE in a magazine section of the daily newspapers entitled "Terror by Telephone" was interesting. I know a number of people in cities who have installed telephones all because of anonymous phone calls. The article stated that 46,000 complaints came in one month and hundreds of thousands more calls go unreported.

Tracing calls used to be impossible. Now the telephone companies have done a startling job and have finally launched a campaign which goes far beyond mere cooperation with the police about anonymous, threatening and obscene phone calls. In a matter of months they have trapped dozens of these telephone terrorists across the nation and all but eliminated their long immunity from punishment.

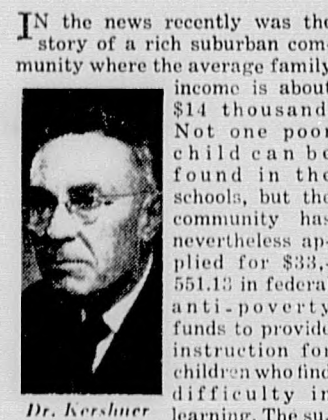

The companies adopted some standard equipment used almost daily by their construction forces in testing lines and checking out trouble spots. Connected by wire to the victim's phone, it permits him with the flip of the switch to place a 20,000-cycle tone on the circuit and simultaneously alert a switchman on duty in the central office, who begins tracing the call. The tone cannot be heard either by the telephone terrorist or the victim. Only the switchman using special earphones can pick it up.

Another is the automatic holding device which is available in some offices. When it is connected to the victim's line, all he has to do is dial a single digit when he gets a vicious call. The dialing, which is unheard by the caller, activates equipment which holds the connection until the call can be traced, even if the calling party hangs up. Another device caught a man exactly one minute after he made such a call.

Welfare Poverty for All

Dr. Kerstner

IN the news recently was the story of a rich suburban community where the average family income is about $14 thousand. Not one poor child can be found in the schools, but the community has nevertheless spent for $35,000,000 in anti-poverty funds to provide instruction for children who find it difficult to learn. The superintendent of the school system said, "Our judgment was that this money is available, all of it money which all of us as taxpayers contributed. The allocation of such poverty funds is based on the assumption that every community must have some families earning less than $2,000 a year. Even though this community has no families in that category or anything approaching it, it nevertheless expected to get the money.

This story illustrates the essential reason why the welfare state has been so successful. It is that the welfare state has no families in that category or anything approaching it, it nevertheless expected to get the money. ## FARM NEWS

By Tom Casaday, County Extension Chairman

EDUCATION Hundreds of Coffee County school age children may be questioning the wisdom of either continuing their schooling or whether to enter the junior college or the trade school or other areas for advanced training. I think parents and friends of young people have an obligation to the young people to encourage them to continue their training. What a great opportunity our young people have both in high school and junior colleges and trade schools!

FARM MANAGEMENT

Recently two of our farmers in the county have taken advantage of some detailed management assistance from our Auburn staff of farm management specialists. A lot of times most folks have difficulty in deciding the most profitable crops or combinations of crops and livestock that will best suit them.

Our Auburn staff has the computer equipment to run detailed farm plans. If we can help you in this, get in touch with us and we will be glad to do everything possible.

WINTER GRAZING

Cattle are being harvested and many of our folks are planting oats and rye and wheat for winter cover and also for grazing crops. Well fertilized winter grazing crops planted where corn has been planted this year and then planted in peanuts next year makes a good combination.

I believe that winter grazing crops will not only help get livestock through the winter but these crops will save and help add to the fertility of the soil. You just can't beat this combination.

CATTLE GRUBS

Cattle grubs are the larvae of heel flies. This pest costs Coffee County beef and dairy producers thousands of dollars each year. Heel flies are about the size of a honey bee and they chase cattle in the early spring in an effort to lay the eggs. Cattle recognize the noise and run wildly with their tails in the air to escape. Eggs are laid on the lower part of the hind leg. These eggs eventually become the cattle grubs.

PESTICIDE EDUCATION

Control is easy. In August or September simply use Co-Ral or Ronnell. Both materials are available from dealers and instructions are on the container.

DEER CATTLE SITUATION

I can't remember a period of time when the possibility for more profitable beef cattle existed. If there ever was a good time, now is the time for Coffee County cattle producers to improve fields, improve pastures, and do a better job of overall management.

For in the years ahead the folks who do a good job now in 1967 and in 1968 are going to profit.

This is one reason why we have scheduled a beef cattle shortcourse to be held in Enterprise for six weeks beginning Thursday, August 13. I'll keep you posted on this because I know that a lot of you will want to attend.

HERBICIDE FOR HOME OWNERS

Controlling grass and weed is a big chore in able in Coffee County. Weeds of flowers, shrubs, trees, and vines. A number of herbicides have been developed in recent years that do an excellent job of suppressing germination of grass and weed seed. Several are available for home-owner use as granular materials in shaker-type containers such as DCPA (Dacotha), diphosphonate (Dymid and Enide), trifluralin (Treflan), dichlorobenzene (Casoron), simazine, and amban. Just about all of these are available.

An occurrence during an 18th century card game affects the lives of most Americans today. England's Earl of Sandwich ordered his most placed between two slices of bread so he wouldn't have to interrupt his game. That order started a new eating trend.

Now citizens of the United States eat about 100 million sandwiches a day. "Sandwiches are important in the menu," points out Dorothy Overbey, Extension specialist in consumer education. "They can be made from so many types of foods and offer speedy preparation and easy eating." Most meats are adaptable to sandwiches, as are cheeses and other dairy products, fish and seafood, and poultry. Other food products such as tomatoes, green peppers, celery, onions, lettuce, pimientos, cucumbers, nuts and relishes are definitely a part of the famous sandwich.

STUDY CENTER

The day of haphazard study - in the living room, in front of the television, within earshot of conversations or radio - should be a thing of the past. Students need a comfortable, well-lighted, secluded place to study. This means a desk with a comfortable chair, good lamps, and storage for books and supplies.

You should be careful in selecting the lighting as you are in selecting your desk. Poor lighting will make you tired quickly, prevent full concentration and perhaps even cause permanent eye damage.

I would like to recommend using a diffuser with an inside-frosted or "white" bulb to soften and spread the light. They come in glass or plastic and can be easily screwed around the lamp socket. Let's make an effort to provide our children with a good place to study.
